CHECK SHOVER HAS EASY TIME HOOKING LOCAL MERCHANTS

Slick 'Jim, the Penman' Hands Out Ten Or A Dozen Phony Checks Here Saturday.

FOUND GOING GOOD

Human nature is the same the world over and Barnum was right. Last Monday we gave publicity to a story from DuBois detailing the operation of that city of a slick check shover, who separated DuBois business men from a couple of hundred dollars by the phony check route. We chuckled somewhat in noting the details of the check shover's operations and observed in our own mind that he couldn't put that stuff over on our business people. But we were mistaken, he not only could, but did. Here's how:

Saturday afternoon, a well dressed stranger about 5 feet, 8 inches in height, weighing about 160, wearing a blue serge suit and brown hat and possessed of a dark complexion with a small pencil or powder mark under the right eye visited ten or a dozen of our business places and at each place visited, succeeded in unloading upon our merchants or their clerks phony checks ranging in amount from $10.40 to $18.40.

The checks were all "counter checks" of one of the local banks, all bore the number 47 and were drawn to the order of Chas. Burke and bore the signature of E. L. Maines. The "checkpasser" would enter a store, purchase some article valued at a couple of dollars, or so, for which one of the worthless checks would be tendered, and when the transaction was completed, the crook would walk out with the goods and the difference in good hard coin of the realm. He needed the money but not the merchandise, as the articles purchased in each case, were left at the first place the operator stopped after making his successful touch.

Some person finally tumbled to the game and notified the police along about 7 o'clock. A hasty search of the town was made but no trace of the check passer was discovered. The police of the surrounding towns were notified but the check writer is still among the missing.

PHILPSBURG WON SATURDAY

Philpsburg, with Horter of last year's team pitching defeated the Clearfield American Legion baseball team at Philpsburg Saturday by a score of 10 to 3.

British War Hero Says Detective Kidnapped Him In Love Game

Washington, D. C., May 8.—A veil of secrecy today was thrown around the alleged attempt to kidnap Alex E. Robertson, said to be a British war hero here, because of his love for a United States Senator's daughter, Miss Mary Culbertson of Texas. Miss Culbertson's parents are strenuously opposed to the marriage with the handsome Britisher, but are maintaining an attitude of strict secrecy in regard to the supposed attempt at kidnapping. At the British Embassy it was stated no action had been taken and no requests have been made to the State Department by the Embassy. Back of the unusual love affair, according to friends of the Culbertsons, is the strong feeling of the Senator and his wife that their daughter, who is twenty one, is too young to marry and it is also their desire that she marry an American.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The British Embassy will safeguard the interest of Alex E. Robertson, British war hero, who alleges attempts have been made to kidnap him because of

JOY RIDERS BUSY AT AUTO STEALING; THREE IN TWO DAYS

Two Cars Swiped Off Streets Saturday Night And One Was Taken Sunday Evening.

TWO LADS NAILED

The usual summer epidemic of automobile swiping by joy riders has struck Clearfield and during Saturday night and Sunday no less than three different machines were stolen. Saturday evening, a Ford, belonging to Clarence Moore of Hillsdale, which was parked on Market Street below Third was taken and found Sunday morning over on West Third Avenue.

About the same time Robert Kennedy's car which had been parked on Locust Street, also disappeared and was found Sunday morning ditched along the road near the Robert Wrigley farm and restored to its owner.

Sunday evening H. G. Dill's car was taken from the point where he had parked it on Pine Street and some time later Mack Meyers, an employee of the Orcutt Garage, saw the car being driven down street and hopping on the running board found the car in the possession of two young men named Lippart, who reside on the old Len Ogden place on Paradise Road. The Lipparts were taken into custody by Mayor Kittleberger and held to answer for stealing the car.

The police and automobile owners will make a desperate effort to break up this automobile stealing and propose to send the perpetrators to the penitentiary where they belong.

FRANCE STANDS PAT AT GENOA PARLEY

Genoa, Italy, May 8.—Unless Russia's note to the Allies is clear cut acceptance of its terms the French delegation will have no alternative than to withdraw from the conference. This statement was issued by the French delegation to the conference this afternoon. It is a formal reaffirmation of France's position outlined by Louis Barthou to correspondents yesterday.

ANOTHER LOVE KNOT RESULTS IN DEATH

Mamaronck, N. Y., May 8.—The bodies of John C. Kane, Jr., aged 30 and Miss Elizabeth Dunn, aged 32, were found in the woods of Alton Park near here, today. Miss Dunn had been shot in the left breast and Kane thought the mouth. An automatic revolver was lying near Kane's hand.

Golden West Girl

Miss Agnes Dohoney is known as the "San Francisco Convention Girl." She will welcome the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at their convention starting June 26.

New York, N. Y., May 8.—Sherman Burns, member of the Burns Detective Agency, today denied charges of Alex E. Robertson, British war hero, that he was kidnapped by Burns agents and was to have been deported from this country to South America on account of his love for Mary Culbertson, only daughter of Senator Charles A. Culbertson, of Texas. After thorough investigation of the case, Burns declared "I find there is absolutely nothing to the charges made by Robertson that he was kidnapped by our men and taken to Boston and held for deportation to South America."

Battle For Governor Is Getting Real Hot

One more week remains for the Pinchot and Alter forces to wage their battle for public favor. Seven days from this evening this people of Pennsylvania will have made up their minds who they wish to guide the ship of state. The outstanding development of the past week was the revelation of Auditor General Lewis's corps of auditors who, in their preliminary report say they have found variances in the accounts of the state treasurer who held office prior to the present administration. Mr. Pinchot saddles this on the present administration, and declares it is proof of his allegation that business was not being conducted according to Hupke at the state capital.

Auditor General Alter, now candidate for governor, has declared that his department is required to act as it will do his duty.

Lewis Getting Even
For the last fortnight, it has been gossiped through the State that Auditor General Lewis was to bring a "sensational" aimed at embarrassing the candidacy of Attorney General Alter for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Mr. Lewis, who lives in York, and is one of the leaders of York county declared for Gifford Pinchot for Governor several weeks ago. The Auditor General is embittered at Governor Sprout and Attorney General Alter for the ousting of Robert S. Spangler, as Speaker of the State House of Representatives who attempted to hold up all legislation. At the time, progressive citizens lauded this act.

The press of the state is demanding that an investigation follow the report of the auditors but non-partisans point out that not one cent is alleged to have been lost to the state and deny the effort to have it appear that any money was stolen. A plea is made that no public official be hung on a gallows of suspicion or accusation.

Desp to the active support of three of Philadelphia's best known newspapers, Odell Houser, of the Public Ledger, in an article yesterday declared that Mr. Alter would carry Pittsburgh as that is his home territory. In the Central counties Mr. Pinchot is a prime favorite and will roll up a handsome majority, possibly high enough to overcome the cities.

Mr. Pinchot will continue to force the fight on the stump. No telling what charges he may make next. Mr. Alter, in his statements is very guarded even to the extent of refraining from any mention of the name of his opponent. The nearest he came to it was in answer to a question Friday evening. He was asked whether he was dry. His reply was to the effect that he was working for prohibition before his opponent knew anything about it.

The Alter supporters are making most of the argument that Mr. Pinchot, regardless of his great wealth, resigned his post as Forester and had himself reappointed again in order to get a higher salary. They also point out that the greatest objection to the Fisher candidacy was the support of Mr. Grundy and that Mr. Grundy is now supporting Mr. Pinchot. They also declare that Mr. Pinchot is inconsistent in first seeking the endorsement of Mr. Sprout, Mr. Vane et al., then denouncing Mr. Alter for accepting that same support after it was denied to himself.

LOCAL HI DEBATERS LOSE TO PUNXSUY HI

The Punxsutawney High School debating team won over the Clearfield High School debating team in the auditorium of the Jefferson street school building Friday evening.

Miss Anna Hyde, Harry Katzman and James R. O'Neil, representing Clearfield and Mr. Coradwyn Nolph, James Miller and Arthur Barry represented Punxsutawney. The question was "Should Capital Punishment be Abolished?" Punxsutawney had the majority of the argument and won by a light margin. Both teams were well drilled and presented splendid arguments, but Clearfield lost out in rebuttal.

Referee S. L. W. Winstow and Walter M. were the judges. The teams were evenly matched both in delivery and argument. However, the Punxsutawney team won by an extra point. The C. H. S. team was second and Clearfield Coach R. R. Rhoads, Mrs. R. D. Hyde, Kathryn Thoen, Dorothy Dietzel and William Gleason.

STOLEN BICYCLES ARE RECOVERED AT SHEEP ROCKS HOME

Ollie Bollig, 15 Year Old Lawrence Twp. Lad, Charged With Wholesale Bicycle Stealing.

FOUND LOTS OF 'EM

For the past year or more, Clearfield has been the scene of indiscriminate bicycle stealing and it wasn't safe to leave a bicycle any place on the streets of the town unless it was locked. Billy Malloy of Fourth street, who delivers for the A. W. Leonard store lost two bicycles in the past few months and while having the assistance of the police in his hunt for the missing bikes, also did a little investigating on his own account. The trail led down to the Sheep Rocks section and a clue to the missing wheels was found there. The result was that on Saturday Chief Hitt, Juvenile Officer Leavy armed with a warrant from "Squire John" office on information made by Billy, went down to the home of Ollie Bollig, a 15 year old Sheep Rocks boy and there found not only the two Malloy bicycles but five or six others in various states or degrees of reconstruction.

The Bollig boy was arrested and an effort will be made to have him identify the bicycles he is alleged to have stolen, many of which had been torn down and were being reassembled, one bicycle being made up of parts of two or three for the purpose of avoiding detection.

The police have three bicycles and a 22 calibre rifle in their possession that were recovered from Billig's home and persons having lost bikes in the past are requested to call at the lockup and identify their property if they can.

THURSDAY CLOSING TO BE DISCUSSED BY BUSINESSMEN

Meeting Called For Legion Rooms Thurs. Eve. At Request Of Out-Of-Town Merchants.

FOUND LOTS OF 'EM

The merchants of the town will take up the matter of regular Thursday afternoon closing of all retail business places during the summer months at a meeting to be held in the American Legion rooms on Thursday evening, May 11th, a movement in that direction having been started for that purpose at the last meeting of the Commercial Club, when a committee was appointed to take the matter up with the business men of the city.

The stores have been closing Thursday afternoons during the hot weather for the past several years and the arrangement has been highly satisfactory all around. It gives the clerks opportunity for a little recreation to break up the monotony of the week's grind and after the closing is established works no hardship on anybody.

The business men of Philadelphia and Osceola favor the idea of Thursday afternoon closing and want all the towns in this section to enroll in the movement. It was the Business Men's Organizations from these towns that brought the matter to the attention of the Commercial Club.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

These doctor fellows are always digging up something new, or dolling some old cure up in new clothes and giving it a new high sounding title. The latest thing to come to our attention is "autohemie therapy," something that is just now attracting a great deal of attention. It consists of the injection of a serum made from the blood of the patient and is said to be very effective in the treatment of so-called incurable diseases such as tuberculosis of the bone, tumors, epilepsy and paralysis. Dr. Grof, a New York physician, who has perfected the treatment and gained much praise for miraculously reclaiming a mentally and physically defective child by it, says:—

"The injection of the blood serum is no new secret of science. It is safe and cured 85 per cent of the so-called incurable illnesses, such as tuberculosis of the bone, tumors, epilepsy and paralysis. I do not believe in animal gland transformations.
"These things are dangerous and nearly always produce animal traits in humans."

The F. W. Woolworth Company which now operates 1155 separate stores, had total sales in April amounting to $13,438,843, an increase of $2,471,469. From the four months ending April 30th their sales totalled $44,900,408, a gain of $4,616,430 over the same period in 1921. The average five and ten cent store is still raking in its 100 per cent war time raise by dividing one piece into two and charging 10 cents for the bucket and 10 cents for the lid. Such profiteering brings results.

Our Uncle Samuel is not such a bad old rooster as we sometimes seem to think he is. He has been taking pretty good care of his ex-service men as the following will show:
"A total of $1,979,260,000 has been spent by the Government since the close of the World War on soldiers, sailors and marines, according to estimate issued recently by the Senate Finance Committee.

This sum represents the money spent for family allowances, compensation, hospitalization, insurance, vocational training and bonuses. It was raised by the Government through thirty-one different appropriation bills.

"They Satisfy"

THE ROVER

By George Randolph Chester

HURDY GURDY FINANCE

They wasted no time with Muggsy Durkey; they exchanged with him no word; they merely beat his head half off, by way of a hint, and hustled him back down the narrow passageway to a barn-like building fenced off from the rest of the lot. Here they tied him to a chair, in the presence of half a dozen other special officers, with clubs. It was not intended that Muggsy should spread the word. After the park had closed for the night, Muggsy would be thrown out.

Muggsy was joined by a fellow with a bleeding nose, then one with a black eye, then five members of the Mud Creek gang, beaten fairly tender. Towards evening the chief of police came back to the barn-like structure to inspect this high-handed outrage, and looked them over, and chuckled and went away.

The grounds by this time were a sea of bobbing heads, and a babble of laughing voices. The blare of the band, mingled with the endless rattle of horns, and the clatter of bells, and the toot of whistles, and the whang of clappers, and the wailing of youngsters, and the cries of the "darkers," and the rush of the roller coasters, and all other discords which the spirit of carnival evoked, formed a harmony celestial to Joe Wilke's ears.

"You win, John!" he exultantly cried, for the 20th time since 3 o'clock. "You win in a walk, old pal! Houston's money is safe!" He paused, still sitting over the gate, and "picking them out," to watch one of the lumpy "specials" dart into a crowd, procure a young man who was "fresh," and give him a warning with murder behind it. "Matzie ought to have been out today. Ain't no toughness here."

"You'll be successful as long as you handle it this way," promised Ames with a smile.

It was absurd to have kept Matzie away, but both her father and he felt so responsible for the child. She was but a child, after all. No, she was a woman, with all a woman's charm, and all a woman's soul, and all a woman's capacity for joy and sorrow. She was there alone today, except for her adoring aunt alone; at home, unhappy, hearing in silence the disappointment they had forced on her against her earnest protest. Her round, blue eyes haunted him, and their reproach was even more poignant when Peter G. Houston walked delightedly up to him. Houston's eyes were nothing like Matzie's, but they were a piece of the same color.

"Stroke of genius, John!" he exclaimed. "When we get through with this, I want to talk to you about other matters, in which I'd like to have you an interest."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF AN ERROR

We wish to announce, through a misunderstanding, that the announcement that Mr. J. Harris was going out of business was and is incorrect. What we intended to convey was the news that we were going to close out CERTAIN LINES of merchandise at great values and replace these closed-out lines with other lines of a similar nature. Third Street and he wanted to surprise her.

She was sitting quietly by herself, crooning a cradle song, in that dreamily flute-like voice, and bustled earnestly with something in her lap. It was a golden haired doll, and she was curling its burnished tresses, so like her own.

John Ames stopped, sobered. What phantasy of mind had been on him! He had seen women, and grown women, playing with dolls, but not like this; and he suddenly realized that mere number of years no more marks the difference between a child and a woman than it marks the difference between a child and a man. Something like humiliation crept upon him, that, at thirty, after having sought seriously, in all the paths where women walk, for that one whom he should know to be his mate, he should fall into this folly, which attacks every man at least once in his life; when he mistakes the father in him for the lover.

It was an indication of his fundamentally healthy mind, that presently he smiled, and crept stealthily away, and took another street car down town, and plunged into a toy shop, just before closing time, and bought the biggest and prettiest golden-haired doll he could find.

With this in his arms, and enjoying the friendly grins of the other passengers by the street car, he hurried back to the Houston house, and slipped up on the Houston porch, and held out the doll before the astonished and delighted blue eyes of the Houston Matzie. Her eyes could grow no rounder, but they expanded in all their heavenly blues.

"Oh, you darling, John Ames!" she cried, and, clapping his cheeks between her warm little palms, she kissed him smack on the mouth.

It was that kiss which took all the last vestige of woman from her, in John Ames' thought, and made her a baby again.

When Peter G. Houston came home an hour later he found Matzie and Ames on the floor, gravely discussing her family of dolls, with the Princess John in the seat of honor.

"Well, that's a hot occupation for a commercial genius!" exclaimed Peter G. Houston, and granted his way to the floor himself, where Matzie clapped his bearded cheeks between her warm little palms and kissed him smack in the mouth.

"An ex-commercial genius," corrected Ames, with a smile. "I think I shall accept that offer of yours, and go away tomorrow."

DIDN'T HAVE A NICKEL—BUT HIS CHECK

A wealthy man once had to borrow a nickel in order to ride to his office on the street car. No ready money—but he could give a certified check for $100,000. He did not carry much cash with him, he banked almost every cent he made and paid everything by check. That's the reason he was wealthy, he saved, saved every cent he could.

Your funds deposited in this old established bank are thus readily available, constantly subject to check but not where you are apt to spend them foolishly.

Democratic paladiums should be given enough rope to get whatever encouragement they can from the "rebuken" in the recent primaries in Indiana. This much-admired "rebuken," it seems, consisted of the nomination of a man for United States Senator by the Republicans of Indiana who is certain of election in November, instead of the present incumbent, whose election in the event of nomination would perhaps have been doubtful. Administration leaders, following President Harding's course, of taking no part in primary contests anywhere, had expressed no preference.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, the Republican nominee, promptly "sat on" stories of an "anti-administration" victory by announcing he was for and would support the Harding administration tooth and nail, e pluribus unum. Of course this statement did not reach any of the Democratic newspapers.

Beveridge as an addition to the Republican side of the Senate will be hailed with gratification by the best element of the Republican party everywhere. The Republican party needs more men of his virile type, who carry their sovereignty under their own hats, in both branches of Congress.

Meanwhile, the Democratic press is having its typewriters reground for celebrations of the next "anti-administration victory," when returns are received from Pennsylvania's primary election of May 16, which will nominate Gifford Pinchot, ardent Rooseveltian, for Governor. Yet, as we said before, the opposition is entitled to all the comfort it can get from primary results that make the Republican party more formidable than ever and banish any possibility there may have been of Democratic success in November.

Harrisburg, May 7.—Edward J. Fox, former president of the State Bar Association and a former justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has been appointed by Attorney General George E. Judge Fox has virtually been drafted. He was chosen because of his eminent professional standing and because he has an intimate knowledge of banking gained from years of service as president of a large trust company at Enston.

GRAMPIAN

While several young people were walking last evening up and down Main Street, they noticed a crowd collecting in front of Mr. Fleming's house. Being curious to find out just what was going on, they quickened their step. Upon arriving at the scene it was impossible to get any closer than the middle of the street and during the mad rush to see what was going on, one of our young ladies fainted, several umbrellas were broken, and a lady lost her purse but later found it. Seeing that they were not making much headway, one of the youngsters got a ladder and got up on a perch across the street, and much to his surprise and amazement there sitting on the porch playing checkers were Jim Gault and Thomas Fleming.

Talk about getting an early start for the Fourth of July, I guess this is going some for our burr. March Wood, Woodell, and McCracken are going to have the race of all races on the Fourth. Starting here at 8 A. M. they are going to run as far as their gas will last, no cheap gas either. Mr. McDonald and Mr. Rawles will be the official timekeepers. There will be three records at stake, getting started, keeping going, and stopping the closest to a gas tank. If McCracken gets ahead at the start, it is all up with the race, for he will make so much smoke the other cannot see, so you see the race all depends on the start.

H. A. Boylan while repairing Mr. McCracken's car was overcome on the job, and spent the rest of the day in the hay mow sleeping, but is able to be around.

Fayn McDonald, Father and March Wood were fishing yesterday, but that's about all they were doing—just fishing. No one saw any fish scales around.

NEVER before has the amazing Knight sleeve-valve motor been available in so fine a car at so low a price. Europe uses the Knight motor in her most famous and expensive cars. Now Willys engineering, Willys quantity production, put it in the reach of all in a car equally famous, but far less costly.

The Motor

The Willys-Knight motor is the highest development of the Knight sliding sleeve-valve principle. It gets more power out of less gas than any other motor of its size and weight. It is free from valve trouble, free from carbon trouble, smooth, quiet, flexible. Scientific tests and driver experience show that it grows more powerful with use. And its life-limit has never yet been ascertained.

The Car

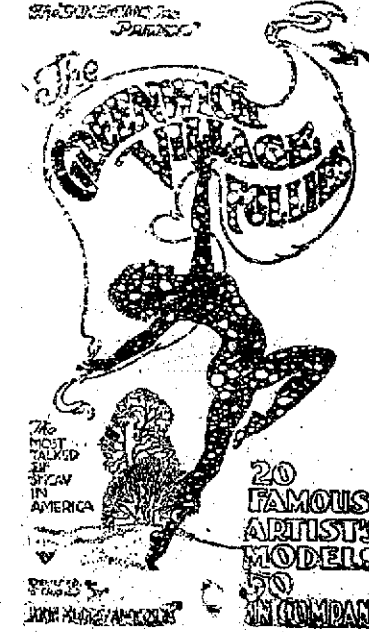

The Willys-Knight Car is especially designed to match the motor in long life and distinction. Graceful, refined, dignified, its sturdy steel chassis beats off jolts and jars and holds the body permanently free from rattles and squeaks. Vigilant springs translate the roll of the road into undulating ease. It is fleet, comfortable, responsible—and a sound investment.

CHECK SHOVER HAS EASY TIME HOOKING LOCAL MERCHANTS

FOUND GOING GOOD

Human nature is the same the world over and Barnum was right. Last Monday we gave publicity to a story from DuBois detailing the operation of that city of a slick check forger, who separated DuBois business men from a couple of hundred dollars by the phony check route. We chuckled somewhat in noting the details of the check shover's operations and observed in our own mind that he couldn't put that stuff over on our business people. But we were mistaken, he not only could, but did. Here's how:

Saturday afternoon, a well dressed stranger about 5 feet, 8 inches in height, weighing about 160, wearing a blue serge suit and brown hat and possessed of a dark complexion with a small pencil or powder mark under the right eye visited ten or a dozen of our business places and at each place visited, succeeded in unloading upon our merchants or their clerks phony checks ranging in amount from $10.40 to $18.40.

The checks were all "counter checks" of one of the local banks, all bore the number 47 and were drawn to the order of Chas. Burke and bore the signature of E. L. Maines. The "checkpasser" would enter a store, purchase some article valued at a couple of dollars, or so, for which one of the worthless checks would be tendered, and when the transaction was completed, the crook would walk out with the goods and the difference in good hard coin of the realm. He needed the money but not the merchandise, as the articles purchased in each case, were left at the first place the operator stopped after making his successful touch.

Some person finally tumbled to the game and notified the police along about 7 o'clock. A hasty search of the town was made but no trace of the check passer was discovered. The police of the surrounding towns were notified but the check writer is still among the missing.

British War Hero Says Detective Kidnaped Him In Love Game

Washington, D. C., May 8.—A veil of secrecy today was thrown around the alleged attempt to kidnap Alex E. Robertson, said to be a British war hero here, because of his love for a United States Senator's daughter, Miss Mary Culbertson of Texas. Miss Culbertson's parents are strenuously opposed to the marriage with the handsome Britisher, but are mainly taining an attitude of strict secrecy in regard to the supposed attempt at kidnapping. At the British Embassy it was stated no action had been taken and no requests have been made to the State Department by the Embassy. Back of the unusual love affair, according to friends of the Culbertsons, is the strong feeling of the Senator and his wife that their daughter, who is twenty one, is too young to marry and it is also their desire that she marry an American.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—The British Embassy will safeguard the interest of Alex E. Robertson, British war hero, who alleges attempts have been made to kidnap him because of

Two Cars Swiped Off Streets Saturday Night And One Was Taken Sunday Evening.

TWO LADS NAILED

The usual summer epidemic of automobile swiping by joy riders has struck Clearfield and during Saturday night and Sunday no less than three different machines were stolen. Saturday evening, a Ford, belonging to Clarence Moore of Hillsdale, which was parked on Market Street below Third was taken and found Sunday morning over on West Third Avenue.

About the same time Robert Kennedy's car which had been parked on Locust Street, also disappeared and was found Sunday morning ditched along the road near the Robert Wrigley farm and restored to its owner.

Sunday evening H. G. Dill's car was taken from the point where he had parked it on Pine Street and some time later Mack Meyers, an employee of the Orcutt Garage, saw the car being driven down street and hopping on the running board found the car in the possession of two young men named Lippart, who reside on the old Len Ogden place on Paradise Road. The Lipparts were taken into custody by Mayor Kittleberger and held to answer for stealing the car.

The police and automobile owners will make a desperate effort to break up this automobile stealing and propose to send the perpetrators to the penitentiary where they belong.

ANOTHER LOVE KNOT RESULTS IN DEATH

Mamaronck, N. Y., May 8.—The bodies of John C. Kane, Jr., aged 30 and Miss Elizabeth Dunn, aged 32, were found in the woods of Alton Park near here, today. Miss Dunn had been shot in the left breast and Kane thought the mouth. An automatic revolver was lying near Kane's hand.

Golden West Girl

Miss Agnes Dohoney is known as the "San Francisco Convention Girl." She will welcome the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at their convention starting June 26.

New York, N. Y., May 8.—Sherman Burns, member of the Burns Detective Agency, today denied charges of Alex E. Robertson, British war hero, that he was kidnapped by Burns agents and was to have been deported from this country to South America on account of his love for Mary Culbertson, only daughter of Senator Charles A. Culbertson, of Texas. After thorough investigation of the case, Burns declared "I find there is absolutely nothing to the charges made by Robertson that he was kidnapped by our men and taken to Boston and held for deportation to South America."

Battle For Governor Is Getting Real Hot

One more week remains for the Pinchot and Alter forces to wage their battle for public favor. Seven days from this evening this people of Pennsylvania will have made up their minds who they wish to guide the ship of state. The outstanding development of the past week was the revelation of Auditor General Lewis's corps of auditors who, in their preliminary report say they have found variances in the accounts of the state treasurer who held office prior to the present administration. Mr. Pinchot saddles this on the present administration, and declares it is proof of his allegation that business was not being conducted according to Hupke at the state capital.

Auditor General Alter, now candidate for governor, has declared that his department is required to act as it will do his duty.

Lewis Getting Even
For the last fortnight, it has been gossiped through the State that Auditor General Lewis was to bring a "sensational" aimed at embarrassing the candidacy of Attorney General Alter for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Mr. Lewis, who lives in York, and is one of the leaders of York county declared for Gifford Pinchot for Governor several weeks ago. The Auditor General is embittered at Governor Sprout and Attorney General Alter for the ousting of Robert S. Spangler, as Speaker of the State House of Representatives who attempted to hold up all legislation. At the time, progressive citizens lauded this act.

The press of the state is demanding that an investigation follow the report of the auditors but non-partisans point out that not one cent is alleged to have been lost to the state and deny the effort to have it appear that any money was stolen. A plea is made that no public official be hung on a gallows of suspicion or accusation.

Desp to the active support of three of Philadelphia's best known magistrates, Odell Houser, of the Police Ledger, in an article yesterday declared that Mr. Alter would carry Pittsburgh as that is his home territory. In the Central counties Mr. Pinchot is a prime favorite and will roll up a handsome majority, possibly high enough to overcome the cities.

Mr. Pinchot will continue to force the fight on the stump. No telling what charges he may make next. Mr. Alter, in his statements is very guarded even to the extent of refraining from any mention of the name of his opponent. The nearest he came to it was in answer to a question Friday evening. He was asked whether he was dry. His reply was to the effect that he was working for prohibition before his opponent knew anything about it.

The Alter supporters are making most of the argument that Mr. Pinchot, regardless of his great wealth, resigned his post as Forester and had himself reappointed again in order to get a higher salary. They also point out that the greatest objection to the Fisher candidacy was the support of Mr. Grundy and that Mr. Grundy is now supporting Mr. Pinchot. They also declare that Mr. Pinchot is insistent in first seeking the endorsement of Mr. Sprout, Mr. Vane et al., then denouncing Mr. Alter for accepting that same support after it was denied to himself.

LOCAL HI DEBATERS LOSE TO PUNXSUY HI

The Punxsutawney High School debating team won over the Clearfield High School debating team in the auditorium of the Jefferson street school building Friday evening.

Miss Anna Hyde, Harry Katzman and James R. O'Quinn, represented Clearfield and Mr. Coradwyn Nolph, James Miller and Arthur Barry represented Punxsutawney. The question was "Should Capital Punishment be Abolished?" Punxsutawney had the majority of the argument and won by a light margin. Both teams were well drilled and presented splendid arguments, but Clearfield lost out in rebuttal.

Re. A. S. L. H. W. W. Winslow and Walter M. were the judges. The teams were evenly matched both in delivery and argument. However, the Punxsutawney team won by an extra point. The H. S. team was second and the Clearfield team was third. The H. S. team was coached by R. H. Rhoads, Mrs. R. D. Hyde, Kathryn Thon, Dorothy Dietzel and William Gleason.

STOLEN BICYCLES ARE RECOVERED AT SHEEP ROCKS HOME

Ollie Bollig, 15 Year Old Lawrence Twp. Lad, Charged With Wholesale Bicycle Stealing.

FOUND LOTS OF 'EM

For the past year or more, Clearfield has been the scene of indiscriminate bicycle stealing and it wasn't safe to leave a bicycle any place on the streets of the town unless it was locked. Billy Malloy of Fourth street, who delivers for the A. W. Leonard store lost two bicycles in the past few months and while having the assistance of the police in his hunt for the missing bikes, also did a little investigating on his own account. The trail led down to the Sheep Rocks section and a clue to the missing wheels was found there. The result was that on Saturday Chief Hitt, Juvenile Officer Leavy armed with a warrant from "Squire John" office on information made by Billy, went down to the home of Ollie Bollig, a 15 year old Sheep Rocks boy and there found not only the two Malloy bicycles but five or six others in various states or degrees of reconstruction.

The Bollig boy was arrested and an effort will be made to have him identify the bicycles he is alleged to have stolen, many of which had been torn down and were being reassembled, one bicycle being made up of parts of two or three for the purpose of avoiding detection.

The police have three bicycles and a 22 calibre rifle in their possession that were recovered from Billy's home and persons having lost bikes in the past are requested to call at the lockup and identify their property if they can.

Community Service Program for Clearfield for Coming Year Ready

At a well attended meeting of the Board of Directors of Community Service held in the High School building, Friday evening, the organization and demonstration work of the national workers for the past six weeks was approved, the following program for a year's work was adopted, a budget sufficient to carry this program on under trained leadership was approved, and steps authorized to finance the organization. The week of May 22nd was designated as campaign week, when every citizen of Clearfield will be given an opportunity to contribute to a cause which is primarily for all the children of the city.

Program Adopted

The following program was adopted upon recommendation of the Executive Committee which met last Monday evening and after discussion by them and by the Board of Directors. The discussion showed that the cooperation and enthusiasm with which the work has been received so far were such as to make it seem certain that this program under experienced guidance, could be developed in its entirety during the year and reach and enrich the off-duty hours of every member of the community.

THURSDAY CLOSING TO BE DISCUSSED BY BUSINESSMEN

FOUND LOTS OF 'EM

The merchants of the town will take up the matter of regular Thursday afternoon closing of all retail business places during the summer months at a meeting to be held in the American Legion rooms on Thursday evening, May 11th, a movement in that direction having been started for that purpose at the last meeting of the Commercial Club, when a committee was appointed to take the matter up with the business men of the city.

The stores have been closing Thursday afternoons during the hot weather for the past several years and the arrangement has been highly satisfactory all around. It gives the clerks opportunity for a little recreation to break up the monotony of the week's grind and after the closing is established works no hardship on anybody.

The business men of Philadelphia and Osceola favor the idea of Thursday afternoon closing and want all the towns in this section to enroll in the movement. It was the Business Men's Organizations from these towns that brought the matter to the attention of the Commercial Club.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

These doctor fellows are always digging up something new, or dolling some old cure up in new clothes and giving it a new high sounding title. The latest thing to come to our attention is "autohemie therapy," something that is just now attracting a great deal of attention. It consists of the injection of a serum made from the blood of the patient and is said to be very effective in the treatment of so-called incurable diseases such as tuberculosis of the bone, tumors, epilepsy and paralysis. Dr. Grof, a New York physician, who has perfected the treatment and gained much praise for miraculously reclaiming a mentally and physically defective child by it, says:—

"The injection of the blood serum is no new secret of science. It is safe and cured 85 per cent of the so-called incurable illnesses, such as tuberculosis of the bone, tumors, epilepsy and paralysis. I do not believe in animal gland transformations. "These things are dangerous and nearly always produce animal traits in humans."

The F. W. Woolworth Company which now operates 1155 separate stores, had total sales in April amounting to $13,438,843, an increase of $2,471,469. From the four months ending April 30th their sales totalled $44,900,408, a gain of $4,616,430 over the same period in 1921. The average five and ten cent store is still raking in its 100 per cent war time raise by dividing one piece into two and charging 10 cents for the bucket and 10 cents for the lid. Such profiteering brings results.

Our Uncle Samuel is not such a bad old rooster as we sometimes seem to think he is. He has been taking pretty good care of his ex-service men as the following will show:
"A total of $1,979,260,000 has been spent by the Government since the close of the World War on soldiers, sailors and marines, according to estimate issued recently by the Senate Finance Committee.

This sum represents the money spent for family allowances, compensation, hospitalization, insurance, vocational training and bonuses. It was raised by the Government through thirty-one different appropriation bills.

"They Satisfy"

THE ROVER

By George Randolph Chester

HURDY GURDY FINANCE

They wasted no time with Muggsy Durkey; they exchanged with him no word; they merely beat his head half off, by way of a hint, and hustled him back down the narrow passageway to a barn-like building fenced off from the rest of the lot. Here they tied him to a chair, in the presence of half a dozen other special officers, with clubs. It was not intended that Muggsy should spread the word. After the park had closed for the night, Muggsy would be thrown out.

Muggsy was joined by a fellow with a bleeding nose, then one with a black eye, then five members of the Mud Creek gang, beaten fairly tender. Towards evening the chief of police came back to the barn-like structure to inspect this high-handed outrage, and looked them over, and chuckled and went away.

The grounds by this time were a sea of bobbing heads, and a babble of laughing voices. The blare of the band, mingled with the endless rattle of horns, and the clatter of bells, and the toot of whistles, and the whang of clappers, and the wailing of youngsters, and the cries of the "darkers," and the rush of the roller coasters, and all other discords which the spirit of carnival evoked, formed a harmony celestial to Joe Wilke's ears.

"You win, John!" he exultantly cried, for the 20th time since 3 o'clock. "You win in a walk, old pal! Houston's money is safe!" He paused, still sitting over the gate, and "picking them out," to watch one of the lumpy "specials" dart into a crowd, procure a young man who was "fresh," and give him a warning with murder behind it. "Matzie ought to have been out today. Ain't no toughness here."

"You'll be successful as long as you handle it this way," promised Ames with a smile.

It was absurd to have kept Matzie away, but both her father and he felt so responsible for the child. She was but a child, after all. No, she was a woman, with all a woman's charm, and all a woman's soul, and all a woman's capacity for joy and sorrow. She was there alone today, except for her adoring aunt alone; at home, unhappy, hearing in silence the disappointment they had forced on her against her earnest protest. Her round, blue eyes haunted him, and their reproach was even more poignant when Peter G. Houston walked delightedly up to him. Houston's eyes were nothing like Matzie's, but they were a piece of the same color.

"Stroke of genius, John!" he exclaimed. "When we get through with this, I want to talk to you about other matters, in which I'd like to have you an interest."

Third Street

and he wanted to surprise her.

She was sitting quietly by herself, crooning a cradle song, in that dreamily flute-like voice, and bustled earnestly with something in her lap. It was a golden haired doll, and she was curling its burnished tresses, so like her own.

John Ames stopped, sobered. What phantasy of mind had been on him! He had seen women, and grown women, playing with dolls, but not like this; and he suddenly realized that mere number of years no more marks the difference between a child and a woman than it marks the difference between a child and a man. Something like humiliation crept upon him, that, at thirty, after having sought seriously, in all the paths where women walk, for that one whom he should know to be his mate, he should fall into this folly, which attacks every man at least once in his life; when he mistakes the father in him for the lover.

It was an indication of his fundamentally healthy mind, that presently he smiled, and crept stealthily away, and took another street car down town, and plunged into a toy shop, just before closing time, and bought the biggest and prettiest golden-haired doll he could find.

With this, in his arms, and enjoying the friendly grins of the other passengers by the street car, he hurried back to the Houston house, and slipped up on the Houston porch, and held out the doll before the astonished and delighted blue eyes of the Houston Matzie. Her eyes could grow no rounder, but they expanded in all their heavenly blue-ness.

"Oh, you darling, John Ames!" she cried, and, clapping his cheeks between her warm little palms, she kissed him smack on the mouth.

It was that kiss which took all the last vestige of woman from her, in John Ames' thought, and made her a baby again.

When Peter G. Houston came home an hour later he found Matzie and Ames on the floor, gravely discussing her family of dolls, with the Princess John in the seat of honor.

"Well, that's a hot occupation for a commercial genius!" exclaimed Peter G. Houston, and granted his way to the floor himself, where Matzie clapped his bearded cheeks between her warm little palms and kissed him smack in the mouth.

"An ex-commercial genius," corrected Ames, with a smile. "I think I shall accept that offer of yours, and go away tomorrow."

Democratic paladiums should be given enough rope to get whatever encouragement they can from the "rebuken" in the Harding administration" in the recent primaries in Indiana. This much-admired "rebuken," it seems, consisted of the nomination of a man for United States Senator by the Republicans of Indiana who is certain of election in November, instead of the present incumbent, whose election in the event of nomination would perhaps have been doubtful. Administration leaders, following President Harding's course, of taking no part in primary contests anywhere, had expressed no preference.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, the Republican nominee, promptly "sat on" stories of an "anti-administration" victory by announcing he was for and would support the Harding administration tooth and nail, e pluribus unum. Of course this statement did not reach any of the Democratic newspapers.

Beveridge as an addition to the Republican side of the Senate will be hailed with gratification by the best element of the Republican party everywhere. The Republican party needs more men of his virile type, who carry their sovereignty under their own hats, in both branches of Congress.

Meanwhile, the Democratic press is having its typewriters reground for celebrations of the next "anti-administration victory," when returns are received from Pennsylvania's primary election of May 16, which will nominate Gifford Pinchot, ardent Rooseveltian, for Governor. Yet, as we said before, the opposition is entitled to all the comfort it can get from primary results that make the Republican party more formidable than ever and banish any possibility there may have been of Democratic success in November.

FORMER CLEARFIELDER

DIES IN PHILADELPHIA
Mrs. Mary Gearhart received word Sunday morning to the effect that her eldest son, Roy E. Gearhart had died on Saturday evening, May 6, at his home in Philadelphia.

The deceased, who was the son of the late S. R. and Mary Cardon Gearhart, was born in Clearfield, June 11, 1870. He was a bridge builder or structural iron worker by profession and had resided in Philadelphia for the past nine years. He is survived by his mother, one sister, Mrs. Harry Evans, of Clearfield, and three brothers, Paul and Fred Gearhart, of Philipsburg, and Charles of Philadelphia.

FORMER SUPREME COURT JUSTICE TO INVESTIGATE FUND

Harrisburg, May 7.—Edward J. Fox, former president of the State Bar Association and a former justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has been appointed by Attorney General George E. Alter, a special deputy attorney general to cooperate with him in getting to the bottom of the divergence in items of the state treasurer's monthly report of deposits of state money and the reports of the banks concerned, on certain days during the Kephart administration, of the Commonwealth's treasury.

Judge Fox has virtually been drafted. He was chosen because of his eminent professional standing and because he has an intimate knowledge of banking gained from years of service as president of a large trust company at Enston.

Music Week culminated in a concert given in the Presbyterian church Friday evening which was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. Among other items on the program were piano selections of a high order, rendered by Mrs. David Hodge, Misses Mildred Henritzy, Catherine Hess and Mary Thomas. Vocal selections were beautifully sung by the ladies quartette of the Lange Baptist church. The ever popular orchestra under John Wilson's leadership, contributed several fine selections, and a real community "sing" took place when everyone joined heartily in singing many of the well known songs of Stephen Collins Foster. This community is fortunate in having so many musical and music loving people.

GRAMPIAN

While several young people were walking last evening up and down Main Street, they noticed a crowd collecting in front of Mr. Fleming's house. Being curious to find out just what was going on, they quickened their step. Upon arriving at the scene it was impossible to get any closer than the middle of the street and during the mad rush to see what was going on, one of our young ladies fainted, several umbrellas were broken, and a lady lost her purse but later found it. Seeing that they were not making much headway, one of the youngsters got a ladder and got up on a perch across the street, and much to his surprise and amazement there sitting on the porch playing checkers were Jim Gault and Thomas Fleming.

Talk about getting an early start for the Fourth of July, I guess this is going some for our burr. March Wood, Woodell, and McCracken are going to have the race of all races on the Fourth. Starting here at 8 A. M. they are going to run as far as their gas will last, no cheap gas either. Mr. McDonald and Mr. Rawles will be the official timekeepers. There will be three records at stake, getting started, keeping going, and stopping the closest to a gas tank. If McCracken gets ahead at the start, it is all up with the race, for he will make so much smoke the other cannot see, so you see the race all depends on the start.

H. A. Boylan while repairing Mr. McCracken's car was overcome on the job, and spent the rest of the day in the hay mow sleeping, but is able to be around.

Fayn McDonald, Father and March Wood were fishing yesterday, but that's about all they were doing—just fishing. No one saw any fish scales around.

NEVER before has the amazing Knight sleeve-valve motor been available in so fine a car at so low a price. Europe uses the Knight motor in her most famous and expensive cars. Now Willys engineering, Willys quantity production, put it in the reach of all in a car equally famous, but far less costly.

The Motor

The Willys-Knight motor is the highest development of the Knight sliding sleeve-valve principle. It gets more power out of less gas than any other motor of its size and weight. It is free from valve trouble, free from carbon trouble, smooth, quiet, flexible. Scientific tests and driver experience show that it grows more powerful with use. And its life-limit has never yet been ascertained.

The Car

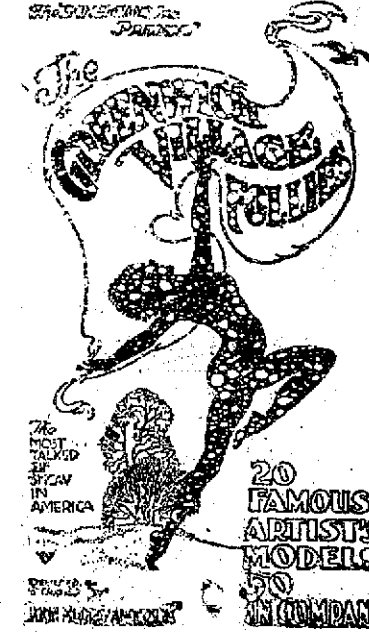

The Willys-Knight Car is especially designed to match the motor in long life and distinction. Graceful, refined, dignified, its sturdy steel chassis beats off jolts and jars and holds the body permanently free from rattles and squeaks. Vigilant springs translate the roll of the road into undulating ease. It is fleet, comfortable, responsible—and a sound investment.
